GROWN BY

BALDWINVILLE, N. Y.

TO MY PATRONS

---

I wish to extend my thanks to all my friends for the generous support given me during the past season. It is gratifying to learn from many of my customers that flowers from bulbs purchased from me have won prizes in numerous contests. I believe this is the result of the painstaking care which my bulbs receive during the growing season, together with fertilization, cultivation, etc. I am pleased to learn from some customers that the bulbs from my fields produced flowers that were superior to those I exhibited at the State Fair, where I won Five First Prizes, One Second Prize and Two Third Prizes out of Eight entries. At the American Gladiolus Society Show at Rochester I won two First Prizes out of three entries. The entry which received no prize was in the yellow class in which I entered Niagara against Gold, Golden Measure, and other equally beautiful yellows. I do not think I ever saw finer Niagara than those I exhibited, but it is really not in the same class with the other yellows mentioned above. The Judges did perfectly right in not awarding a prize to my Niagara, as it is far too light in color to be called yellow. It is more of a cream color.

I harvested last fall the largest crop of Gladioli that I have ever grown, and when I figured the cost of labor which I paid for the care and harvesting, not counting my own labor, it seems that the bulbs should bring several times the prices I ask for them, in order to produce a reasonable profit. However, I am making the prices very reasonable and trust you will take advantage of them. Those who intend to order should do so as soon as possible as indications are that I will do a larger business than ever before. In view of this may I ask you to place your orders early.

Sincerely yours,

John J. Prouty.

My terms are cash with the order. I cannot afford to keep a bookkeeper and I am too busy to make out and send bills.

I take the utmost pains to keep my stock pure and true to name. It sometimes happens through unavoidable circumstances that a bulb will get in the wrong tray and be sent out under wrong name. In such cases I will replace the bulb the following season free of charge, but farther than that I cannot guarantee anything. Bulbs I send out are in first class condition when they leave my hands and should, under proper care produce splendid flowers.

Six bulbs will be sent at one half the price of a dozen. Larger quantities of some varieties can be had at some reduction from the dozen price. Prices will be quoted on application.

Bulbs will be shipped about April first if the weather permits. Plant them about four or five inches deep in a light soil, or three inches deep in a heavier soil. In the climate of New York State little is gained by planting before May first, as they will not grow till the ground is warm. Further south they may be planted as soon as the soil is warm. Do not use fresh stable fertilizer when planting the bulbs. It will be all right if the fertilizer is dug into the ground the previous fall. Give them enough water to keep them growing nicely during the season and while blooming it is well to increase the water supply if the weather should be dry. We begin digging about the first of October, cutting the tops off at once then allowing the bulbs to dry in the open air for two or three weeks. Store in a vegetable cellar, the same as potatoes in crates, or bags made of burlap which will allow the air to circulate. Shake up occasionally during the winter.
